Seeing, however, a footbridge across the swollen water the young ladies got out of the buggy, and the gentleman decided to ford with his horse and buggy. The water, bowever, proved deeper and the current stronger than he at first supposed, and the horse getting beyond his depth foundered, and becoming entangled in the harness was soon drowned. AN IMMENSE CONCOURSE AND CONTINUED EXCITEMENT.

CIVIL RIGHTS AND DAVY CROCKETT.

When the Theatre opened last night there was an immense throng, mostly young men, congregated in its front. So large and compact was this crowd that it took the combined efforts of a dezen policemen to keep a passage-way open on the sidewalk. There was little said to indicate the cause of the unusual turnout, but those who read the morning papers can readily imagine fore rigidly reserved for the accommodation make the venture of asking or demanding the admittance that would at once be accorded them by the management. That either many negroes made their appearance, though fending brethren. not so many as have been in the habit of assembling there.

On the outside a large crowd of whites remained massed in front of the Theatre, while diagonally opposite were probably seventyfive or one hundred negroes scattered over the street, keeping up evidently a menacing attitude.

About 9 o'clock two burly-looking negroes pushed their way through the crowd of whites on the street in front and went into the entrance to the Theatre, looking at the box-office, and feeling in their pockets as if it was their intention to purchase fickets. They continued this performance for some time, when a policeman notified them that it they were going in they must go at once, or, if not, to leave. Reluctantly they chose the latter and disappeared through the crowd. Soon afterwards a gang of about twelve negroes rushed past the Theatre in an insolent and brayado manner, but no notice was taken of them.

Nothing occurred within the Theatre to mar the pleasure of the evening, and Mr. Mayo in his charming rendition of "Davy Crockett" afforded entertainment such as is not often enjoyed in this city. The house was very well biled with ladies and gebuck men, who evinced their delight on every possible occasion by the most rapturous applause. There never was a drama better presented on our boards than that which we witnessed last evening, and the management deserves the thanks of his many patrons. The play is rich with beautiful passages, and its simplicity adds in no small degree to its great attractiveness.

GOVERNOR VANCE AT ASSOCIATION HALL LAST NIGHT .- The hall of the Young Men's Christian Association last night was crowded to its utmost capacity with one of Richmond's most refined and intelligent audiences, attracted by the reputation of the distinguished orator ex-Governor Z. B. Vance, of North Carolina. With a gracefully eloquent introduction, in which he compared the "Scattered Nation" to the Gulf scream, which steadily flows on and refuses to mingle with the waters of the ocean, the lecturer speke of the origin of the Jewish nation, the land in which they lived, their government, their ancient history, their present status, and their probable future. As it is hoped that this noble lecture will be widely and frequently repeated, a report of Suffice it to say, that from the beginning to the end the great orator held his audience spell-bound by beautiful descriptions, able arguments, and elequent passages, and convulsed them with laughter at his keen wit, quiet humor, and admirable hits.

Those who heard the lecture last night will be sure to hear Governor Vance again on Thursday night, and those who were so unfortunate as not to hear the story of "The Scattered Nation" will surely not deprive themselves of the privilege of bearing Zeb. Vance on "The Demagogue."

"Preachers and Doctors." Messrs, Editors,-The article in your issue of yesterday under the above title claims a brief notice. We knew that cancer was deemed by the medical fraternity "incurable," or, at least, that they considered all known remedies for its relief of very doubtful efficacy. Dr. Wollard professed to be able to cure it. Many witnesses, believed to be credible, tes-

From time immemorial it has been the cus-

At first it was thought that one of the boilers in the heating department had exploded, and the crowd-rushed to that place. Fortunately no one was injured by the explosion, though the stone floor over the main was torn up for some distance.

New Hampshire Election.

Boston, March 9 .- Dispatches from New Hampshire up to this hour (8:30 P. M.) indicate an unusually large vote by each party, and a possible Republican victory through the prohibition vote, which was very generally cast for the Republican nominees. The Republicans already claim the Governor and Second and Third congressional districts. The election of Frank Jones (Democrat), congressional candidate in the First district, is conceded by the Republicans.

A Concord dispatch from a Republican source says: "The news of a Republican victory is confirmed beyond a doubt, and jubilations have begun everywhere. ney's majority is probably small. The Legislature is Republican by a good working majority. It is known that Jones (Democrat) is elected to Congress in the First district, and Blair (Republican) in the Third district. The contest is close in the Second district."

The Monitor says the Republicans have elected Cheney on the popular vote, and carried the House by an overwhelming majority and the Senate two to one. Wonderful Republican gains are reported from almost every section of the State. The Democrats are reticent as to the result, but are confident that further returns will elect their Governor, and possibly Bell in the Second congressional district.

The Republicans held a meeting in Rum ford Hall, where congratulatory speeches were made by several citizens. The Republicans claim the election of Cheney as Governor by the people and all three congressmen; that they will have a majority of 30 or 40 in the Legislature;

also a majority in the Senate, as the returns

aiready show the election of seven senators.

DUBLIC REPORT OF A POLICEMAN!

I have not enjoyed good health for several years post, yet have not allowed it to interfere with my labor. Every one belonging to the laboring class when the body, from debility, almost refuses to perform its daily task. I never was a believer it dosing with medicines; but, having heard the VE GETINE spoken of so highly, was determined to try it, and shall never regret that determination As a tonic (which every one needs at some time) its surpasses anything I ever heard of. It invigorates the whole system it is a great cleanser and purifier of the blood. There are many of my acquaintances who have taken it, and all unite in praise of its satisfactory effect.

who have taken it, and all unite in praise of its satisfactory effect.

Especially among the aged class of people, it imparis to them the one thing most needful in old age—nights of culm, sweet repose, thereby strengthening the mind as well as the body. One sged lady, who has been suffering through life from scrofula, and has become blind from its effects, having tried many remedies with no favorable result, was induced by friends to try the Vegetine. After taking a few bottles she obtained such great relief that she expressed a wish for her sight, that she might be able to look upon the man who had sent her such a blessing.

Yours, respectfully,

MAKE IT PUBLIC. SOUTH HOSTON, February 9, 1871.

H. R. Stevens, Esq.: Dear Sir.—I nave heard from very many sources of the great success of Kegatine in cases of scrofula, the unaitym, kidney complaint carers of scrotting remains of kindred nature. I make no hesitation in saving that I know Vegerine to be the most reliable remedy for carriand general debility.

My wife has been troubled with entarth for many My wife has been troubled withgeatarth for many years, and at times very badly. She has thoroughly tried every supposed remedy that we could hear of, and with all this she has for several years been gradually growing worse, and the discharge from the head was excessive and very densive.

She was in this condition when she commenced to take VEGETINE. I could see that she was improving on the second bottle. She continued taking the VEGETINE untal she had used from tweive to fifteen bottles. I am now happy in informaling you and the public (if you choose to make it public) that she is eatherly cured, and VEGETINE accomplished the cure after nothing else would. Hence I feel justified in saying that VEGETINE is the most reliable rementy, and would advise all sufficing humanity to try it, for I believe it to be a good, homest, vegetable medicine, and I shall not nesitate to recommend?. I gm. fcc., respectfully.
